REPORT ON ENGLISH THEATRE CLUB
Grade-VI to IX

‘All the world is a stage, and the men and women are merely players’.
-William Shakespeare

Cherishing the words of Shakespeare, the greatest dramatist of the world, the stage was set to create and to present a role-play by the students of English Theatre Club.

‘Acting is not only dressing up,

Acting is behaving truthfully under imaginary circumstances,

Acting is all about being in the right time at the right place’.

A role-play ought to be the point of intersection between the visible and invisible worlds, or, in other words, the display, the manifestation of the hidden. To embellish these words, we chose ‘Social Media and Networking’ as a theme of our role - play.

Social Media is any form of online publication or presence that allows users to engage in multi-directional conversation in or around the content on the website. Social networks have become so popular that by the time Facebook was launched in 2006, the internet users had more than 200 social networks to choose from. According to Global Digital Report 2018, there are 3.196 billion users of Social Media with 13% increase every year.

English Theatre Club dealt the need of creating awareness among the students of this generation to understand the usage of Social Media and Networking.

The students of the Club performed with great enthusiasm and energy. Every child varied in their acting skills, but each one justified their role with their performance. The role-play gave an insight for everyone, who was present in auditorium to think about values, relationships and our priorities influenced by these Social-medias. The statistics presented during role play as a backdrop was an eye-opener for the audience. Students thoroughly enjoyed performing the scenes which they felt as a replica of their real life. The spectators were enthralled when students enacted the craze for selfies and the consequences of that insane crush for selfie.

It was a food for thought for everyone in the auditorium. Every day we have similar situations and circumstances in our life, but we have never thought that we are living such a monotonous life. The role play was effective to make everyone understand that Facebook is a social networking site; it's not our personal diary. Social Media is something like a double-edged sword. The role-play was a snap-shot with the message to use technology for betterment in one's life and not to discard anyone's life.

'Limit the use of Social media

Unleash your brain with idea'.
